Shortage of post cards

851. SHRI SUSHILKUMAR SAMBHAJIRAO SHINNDE:

SHRI RAJUBHAI A. PARMAR:

Will the Minister of COMMUNICATIONS be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that post cards are in short supply so much so that village post offices show 'nil' stock for weeks and months together and poor villagers and tribals in rural and tribal areas are deprived of the facility;

(b) whether it is a fact that much loss is incurred by Government only as a social obligation in providing cheap communications facility to the weaker sections of the society including the poor rural and tribal people;

(c) whether this shortage for the weaker sections is attributable to the large scale diversion of post cards to the elite, especially those participating in 'quiz' and other competitions on Doordarshan and otherwise organised by different fora where replies to question are sought only on post cards; and

(d) if so, whether Government propose to introduce special post cards for such elite purposes used for quiz competitions and the like, the price of which may be fixed as per cost incurred?

THE MINISTER OF STATE OF THE MINISTRY OF COMMUNICATIONS (SHRI SUKH RAM): (a) to (d) In supplying post cards to a network of more than 1,52,000 post offices, shortages in some pockets occasionally occur. The deficit of the Department of Post is largely because of the fact that the postal tariffs are below their costs. Provision of cheap communication facility to the Weaker Section of the society including poor, rural and tribal people, is one of the reasons for keeping postal tariffs below cost. While large number of post cards are used in quiz and other competitions on Doordarshan, it would not be entirely correct to attribute shortage in some pockets of the country to this alone. In fact, it is the endeavour of the Govt. to increase the availability of post cards, if necessary by tapping printers in the private sector. However, since each post card costs the Department of Post Rs. 1.60 in printing, distribution and operation whereas the revenue from each post card is only 15 ps., it is felt that use of such post cards for purposes of quiz competitions do not deserve the subsidy. Appropriate legislative measures will be taken to distinguish the use of post cards for such purposes.
